

Scaled Like a Fish

Mr. P. J. Weiner of Pennsylvania, a sufferer from Eczema, writes: "I scaled like a fish—had two doctors, but got worse all the time—after using only three bottles of D. D. D. I can truthfully say I am cured."

This D. D. D. Prescription is a mild wash scientifically compounded from wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients which penetrate to the disease germs. This cooling wash destroys the germs and throws them off, leaving the skin smooth and healthy. We guarantee the first full sized bottle. You are to get it and decide if it is worth the price. If not, pay nothing. Elvey & Hulet, druggist, Phoenix; Farmers Drug Store, Tempe.

LATE VISITOR MR. J. A. SMITH

North Carolinian Much Pleased With Salt River Valley; Phoenix Named as First of His Three Favorite Cities

Readers of The Republican will remember an interview with Mr. J. A. Smith of Bessemer City, N. C., a brother-in-law of J. C. Irvin who was in the city a short time early in the winter. Mr. Smith who is editor and owner of the Bessemer City Messenger, a man of affairs and a prominent progressive of North Carolina, talked interestingly and instructively of cotton growing and manufacturing. Mr. Smith who went from here to California has published in his paper his impression of the country he visited. The following are extracts from an editorial by Mr. Smith:

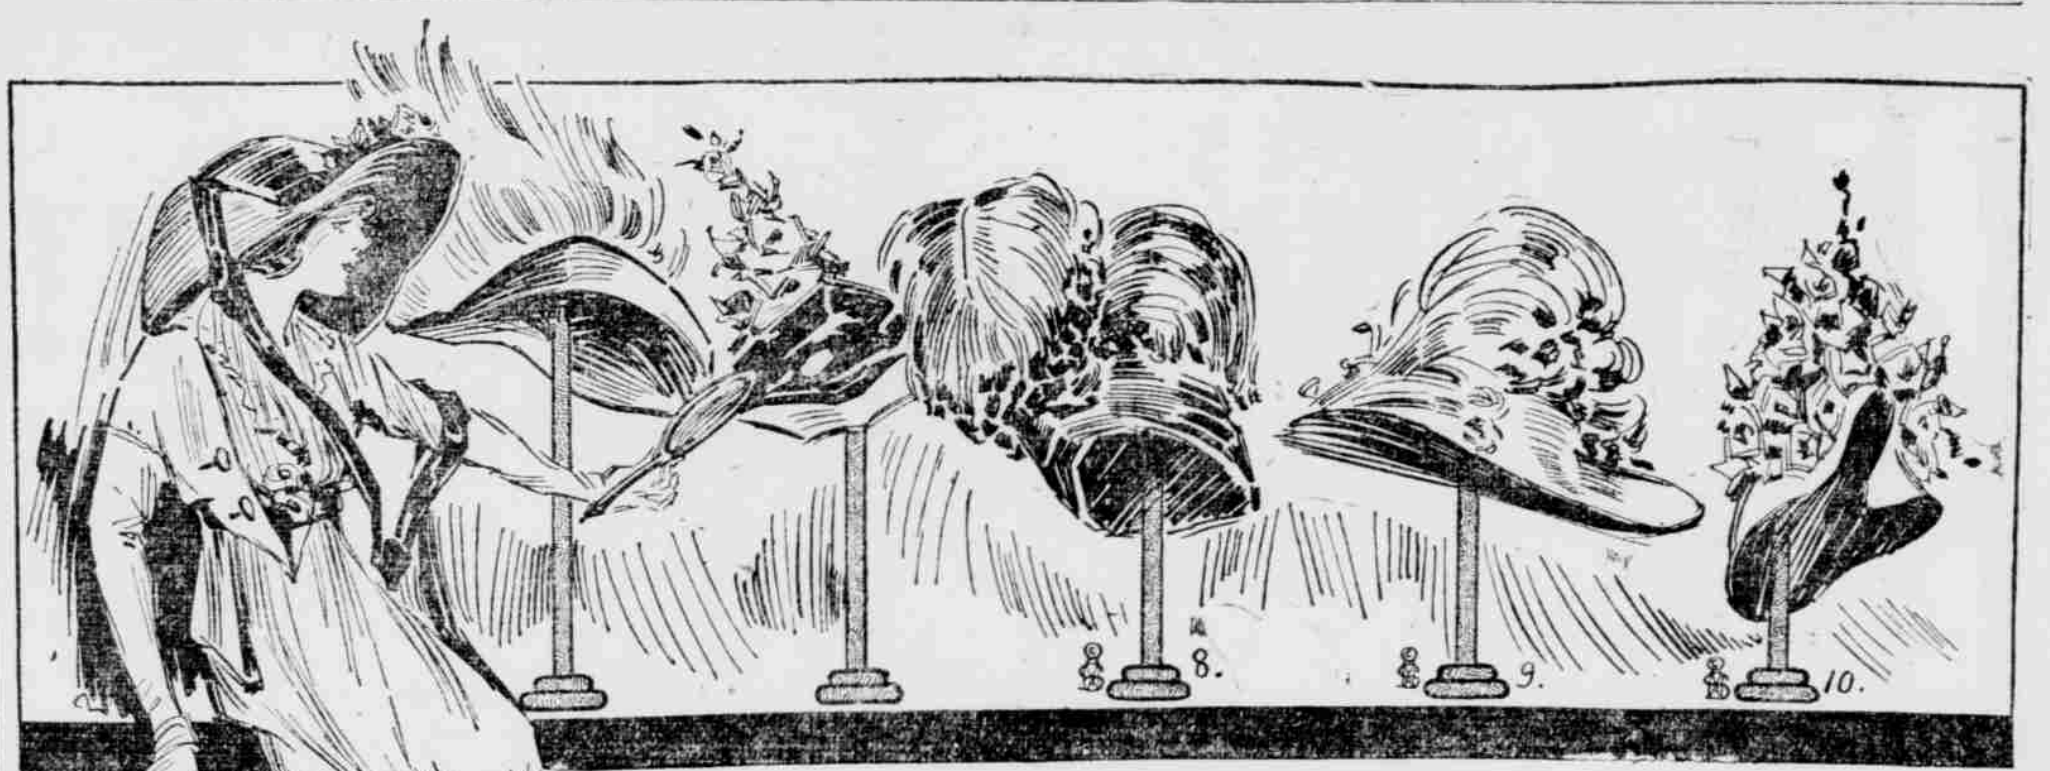

"The writer has recently returned from a trip through New Mexico, Arizona, California and part of Old Mexico. And comparatively speaking the west is on a boom, to use a popular phrase. While North Carolina under-exploited, under-boomed. This winter has been an exceptionally cold one for the extreme west, in fact, the proverbial 'Oldest Inhabitants' assured us they had never seen such a cold winter in Arizona and California. The newspapers out there reported the temperature 6 to 8 degrees above zero and the orange and other citrus fruit crops are almost ruined. We saw hundreds of thousands of acres in Southern California almost a total loss. It was a pitiful sight, long to be remembered. But the citrus fruit crop is not the whole cheese out there. Apples, peaches, olives, apricots and plums will only be the better on account of the freeze holding the blossoming back in the spring.

"Alfalfa is the money crop in most sections of Arizona, especially in the Salt River Valley. But this crop only turns $50 to $25 per acre and the price of the land is $250 per acre. We have plenty of land here right in Gila county that will bring $50 to $80 per acre in cotton and can be bought from $5 to $60 per acre. So we say we are terribly under-exploited on general averages of respective values. And there is a reason for it. And the reason is, out west, in Arizona, West Texas, New Mexico and California about nearly every other door is a real estate office with from one to a dozen runners and boomers exploiting their hands and houses, talking day and night and advertising in the papers. Here in North Carolina nobody is saying a word, no real estate offices, runners, or boomers, though values are here 50 to 100 per cent cheaper than west and this is the reason we remain in a comparatively dormant state. Of all the spots we would select if we had plenty of money to invest, Phoenix, Ariz., San Francisco, and vicinity and El Paso, Tex., would be the three.

"The big dam now being built on the Rio Grande river above El Paso solves the irrigation problem for the Rio Grande Valley around El Paso which will make it a great city just as the Roosevelt dam above Phoenix has made and is making a great city."

Mr. Smith was most favorably impressed by San Francisco of which he writes:

"As everybody knows San Francisco is the gateway for America to the populous Orient now and always will be, and also we might say the gateway as well to the greater part of South America, besides being the natural trading port for the great west coast. With these commercial and natural advantages reinforced by the opening of the Panama canal. San Francisco is destined in the very near future to be one of the greatest cities of the world. Cosmopolitan and enterprising to the limit, providentially blessed with the grandest land and ocean scenery and climate she draws trade and travel from the whole world. Her parks, bays, views, her golden gate with her embattled hills indescribable with pen, creates an emotion in the mind akin to the sublime, and we cannot help saying San Francisco sits single and unapproached queen of the western world, not only as the mecca of the tourist but also as the great trade mart of the world."

Of the political side he says: "We would be remiss if we did not say a word in praise of the great political revolution in California putting the progressive party in power with Governor Johnson, Roosevelt's running mate at the head. We heard prominent political opponents of the progressive party say it had in the last and in the present legislature done more for social, moral and industrial justice than all the previous legislatures combined, freeing the state and especially the city of San Francisco from grafters and public plunderers, breaking up the school book trust. Would to God we had some of that kind of legislation in North Carolina."

IMPROVEMENT OF ROAD.

The trustees of road district number 2, which was formed for the purpose of making a first class boulevard of the McDowell road, yesterday awarded a contract to N. L. Carpenter for the improvement of this part of the road that lies between the Park road and the Crescent canal. This will be a macadam roadway. They now have many engineering features of that part of the McDowell road that lies between the Park road and Central avenue in the hands of the Phoenix City engineer.

It is proposed to have a concrete roadway 30 feet wide with some groups on this part of the road.

THE WHEELBARROW.

If you have occasion to use a wheelbarrow, leave it, when you are through with it, in front of the house with the handles toward the door. A wheelbarrow is the most complicated thing to fall over on the face of the earth. A man will fall over one when he would never think of falling over anything else. He never knows when he has got through falling over it, either; for it will tangle his legs and his arms, turn over with him and rear up in front of him, and just as he pauses in his profanity to congratulate himself, it takes a new turn and scoops more skin off of him, and he continues to evolve anew, and bump himself in fresh places. A man never ceases to fall over a wheelbarrow until he turns it completely on its back, or brings up against something it cannot upset. It is the most inoffensive looking object there is, but it is more dangerous than a locomotive, and no man is secure with one unless he has a tight hold on its handles, and is sitting down on something. A wheelbarrow has its uses, without doubt, but in its leisure moments it is the great blighting curse on true dignity.

VELIE

Wrought Iron Vehicles

ARE IN A CLASS
BY THEMSELVES

Wrought iron is used in all Velie vehicles where strength is required; as for instance, all Velie fifth wheels, body hangers, stay braces, spring braces, pole stay braces, pole and shaft irons, front seat iron, for auto seats, goose necks, shifting rail. Top joints are made from wrought iron, although the cost of wrought iron as compared with malleable is much higher, due to the fact that in order to produce a wrought iron forging it is first necessary to have expensive dies made for forging and trimming the iron, after which it must be machined, drilled and formed into the shapes desired. Whereas, in making malleable iron it is only necessary to procure a pattern, put it in the sand, and pour the casting, which is much cheaper in cost of production. But malleable parts are very often broken the first time the vehicle would be used. Wrought iron is used almost exclusively in the manufacture of freight and passenger cars, automobiles and heavy machinery where strength is required.
